Band Biography

EXIT are a hard-hitting Anthemic melodic rock band from Belfast, Northern Ireland.

In early 2006 the band released their self-financed debut five-track EP entitled "Message To the Universe" which achieved mass radio airplay, reviews and acclaim from within the music industry. A track from the EP was also featured on the compilation album 'Sounds Of Northern Ireland', which was released by independent label MusicBest Records. This led to the band being offered by a film company to make their debut music video and a film about the band, which is currently nearing the end of production.

Since its formation, the band has been gigging constantly in all the major venues in Ireland and the UK. The band supported several major acts such as "Starsailor", "Journey South", "Aslan". After the support slots the band also caught the attention of several management and record companies.

Recently, the band achieved great success in the global search for the world's best unsigned band run by US record label BodogMusic. After being chosen by industry professionals, the band went on to compete in and win several live heats of the competition.

EXIT recently celebrated the release of their Second 'self-titled' EP with a sold out "EP Launch" gig in Belfast's

Spring And Airbrake. The event was supported by several radio stations, press and photographers due to mass press coverage of the EP in its pre-release format.

After the successful EP launch, the band's main focus for the next year is touring Ireland, Scotland, UK and Europe chasing a record deal that will allow the band to reach as many people as possible with their music and really get into people hearts and minds.
